SATURDAY.....JULY 3, 1886.

New York's Limited Horizon. New York has in Congress representatives who represent well the arrogant self-sufficiency of that city. These gentlemen, like the people and press of the city they represent, denounce every year the river and harbor bill passed by Congress, because it appropriates money for the improvement of rivers and harbors with which they are not familiar, and every year vote to make the largest obtainable appropriations for the improvement of New York harbor and all the entrances to that city. Especially is Mr. HEWITT, an excellent congressman in many respects and one of the best-informed men in the House of Representatives, noted for his opposition to what he and his followers

But on Thursday last, Mr. HEWITT moved in the House of Representatives to appropriate more than one hundred thousand dollars of the people's money to the inauguration of BARTHOLDI'S statue of Liberty Enlightening the World-a statue which is to adorn New York harbor, and which will add to the attractions of that great city, which, however, asks UNCLE SAM to furnish the money needed for placing that mammoth statue in position. It is significent that when the House was in Committee of the Whole that body by a vote of more than two to one decided in favor of Mr. HEWITT's proposition. but when it resolved itself into the House of Representatives refused by a vote of 106 nays to 103 yeas to make the proposed appropriation. We suspect that some congressmen were afraid of their constituents.

We are not sure that Congress ought not to make an appropriation to this object. What we wish to emphasize is the congressmen in regard to this and the other things to which we have alluded. If Virginia had at the proper time asked for an appropriation of ten thousand dollars to aid in the inauguration of the statue of WASHINGTON in this city she would have been laughed to scorn. We do not suppose that one single congressman from New York wou'd have voted for such an apof it. And if a request for aid to inaugurate the statue of WASHINGTON would have met with a reception of that sort, no one can easily of WASHINGTON, therefore she did right to set it up herself. The United States nominally, but New York really, receives the statue of Liberty Enlightening the World as a gift, and therefore that city ought not to set it up at her own expense!

We beg our New York contemporaries not to object to the appropriation of $150,000 to the improvement of the

As the Virginian is the leading Republican paper in Virginia, and one of its editors will, it is said, be the next Republican candidate for Congress in the Staunton district, the above paragraph indicates that in Virginia at least every Democratic candidate for Congress will be met upon the stump with the charge that "the Democratic members of Congress defeated the BLAIR bill." The voters, however, will hardly be misled in this matter. Knowing that Mr. WILLIS, of Kentucky, the patron of the bill in the House, is a mocrat-that he is backed by other leading Demograte-and that BROWN. COLQUITT, RANSOM, VANCE, GEORGS. WADE HAMPTON, BUTLER, CAN DEN. KENNA, and indeed nearly all the most influential Democrats in the wards, in command of the gaards,

The St. Louis Globe Democrat is very much demoralized. A realization of the fact that the fortunes of the Republican party are rapidly waning has gotten his ideas regarding cause and effect badly tangled. It bursts out as follows :

"The necessity for some sort of Federal supervision of elections will become apparent when it is remembered that every Atlantic and Gulf State from Virginia to Texas, except Georgia and Texas, cast their electoral vote for the Republican presidential ticket in 1872, and only three of them did so in 1876, and none of them have done so since that time. What produced this change in four years ending with 1876?"

Seeing that this is a Democratic Administration, "Federal supervision" of elections now means Democratic supervision. Since our contemporary is so earnest, how would it suit it to have the Administration follow the example of some of its Republican predecessors and stretch the "supervision" already provided for into outrageous. unlawful, tyrannical, and partisan interference with the freedom of all elections? The Globe-Democrat would better take something to clear its head.

COUPONS-A POLITICAL MOVE .-The Piedmont Advance (Culpeper) says: "Lucien Winston, W. H. Eggborn, James B. Lewis, and three other gentlemen whose names we were unable to find out, have tendered to the treasurer of this county coupons in payment of their taxes. The coupons were promptly refused by Treasurer Smith. Levies were made at once on the property of the coupon-payers, and the property levied upon will be sold at public auction on July court-day.
"These are the first coupons that have been tendered in this county since the Riddleberger bill was passed. Messrs. Winston and Eggborn are the recognized Republican leaders of this county, and it is said to be a political move on their part. Those who have tendered coupons are, it is said, using denounce as log-rolling river and harbor all of their influence to induce others to follow their example, but have so far been unsuccessful.' General MAHONE cannot afford to play that sort of game in Virginia politics. It will prove to be a losing game. The people are in no humor to be trifled with on this subject. If a million of dollars were to be paid to the State in coupons every year, she would have to add a million of dollars to the present taxes, inasmuch as coupons will not aid in the slightest degree to carry on the State government, keep open the courts of justice, support our schools, or maintain our asylumns and other institutions.

HALSTEAD is suffering from PAYNE. Every issue of the Commercial-Gazette gives evidence of the fact.

A Republican contemporary asks "Who are the people?" After their experience in the last presidential election our Republican contemporary ought to know who the people are.

" A gentleman who recently visited ex-President ARTHUR at his New London retreat says ' the main topic of conversation was fishing." It is evident that if CHET is very ill he is not aware

The Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette says: "If Messrs. EVARTS, LOGAN, and TELLER only cou'd, no doubt they would be glad to crawl through the bunghole and hide in a blue coal-oil barrel." LOGAN will doubtless say that that is one of HALSTEAD'S political " ubrications."

BLACKSBURG, July 1, 1886. The commencement exercises of the fourteenth year in the history of the fourteenth year in the history of the Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College opened on Sunday last. Despite the lowering clouds and occasional sprinklings of rain, which may have served to keep many at home, the commodious commencement hall was well filled with a highly-appreciative and attentive audience to hear the baccalaureate address—to be delivered by the vestigent of the college. In taking up the subject "Develop ment, the Law of God's Universe," the orater dwelt at length upon the antagonism between scientists and religion-the difference between Churchanity and Christianity. Christianity, he said, is my manhood; and if I have no manhood I have no Christianity. I have no religion. In the contest of science and religion look at Hugh Miller, the Scotch skeptic, who, in the paroxysm of joy at the discovery or revelation of his God, took his own life. In the development of the law of God the beautiful little rivulet rising in vonder mountain is taken as an illustration-finding its way to the New River and on and on to the Kanawha, to the Ohio, and thence to the Missis-sippi and the Gulf. imagine the storm or indignation that would have beaten upon old Virginia if she had, in 1875, asked Congress to appropriate even a few thousand dollars to aid in the inauguration of the statue of STONEWALL JACKSON, though this last statue was a present from Englishmen, as that of BARTHOLDI is a present from Frenchmen. The liberal-minded people of this country are still to be found in the southern States. Especially are the people of New York city afflicted with a limited horizon. The sky touches the ground all around that city at the corporation line. Virginia paid for the statue

James river below Richmond.

That decision will not hold good, as the Dispatch well knows. The Demothe Dispatch well knows. The Democratic members of Congress defeated the Blair educational bill, and thus deprived the public schools of Virginia of over $5,310,000. They will be held to the record and the people called upon to pass judgment upon their infidelity to the interests of the State.—Valley Virginian.

Senate voted for the BLAIR bill, the gave the soldiers a dinner at the Forest people of Virginia will be apt to call City House.

Before proceeding with the subject matter—"Development or Restless Action the Law of God's Universe" the Professor directed a few words to before entering upon the active duties of life, full of commotion and conflict and contest, he would ask them to receive the note of warning, to receive the advice from a father as well as an officer of the college. He compared the student to the sleeping infant, with three guardian angels standing by. One the meek-eyed angel of Home; another the angel of the Church; the third the large-brained angel of the State. The angel of Home says to the sleeping babe: "Honor thy father and thy mother," be a loving son, respect parental authority, be faithful to father, faithful to mother, love home, photograph it in your heart. The augel of the Church says, Be good, love God and your neighbor, develop character, "be truthful and
